

The Turkish bombing of Evrin Hospital

Health Council in Afrin Region

Evrin Hospital was a place that has been receiving many people with medical conditions; a place where many people resorted to for treatment. It was providing medicines for patients and took care of many children, women and elderlies who became wounded by the Turkish bombardment.

On 16 March 2018, Evrin Hospital was bombed by the Turkish Army twice in a row, killing dozens of wounded people who were being treated there and causing serious damage to the hospital which was and still crowded by injuries.

Reflecting on this matter, the occupationist Turkish state issued a statement denying the massacre and published with the statement a picture revealing its lies and allegations.

The picture that published by the Turkish occupationists clearly shows one of the buildings that was bombed, showing a gap in the top of the building caused by the bombing and it is identified by a red circle, this building is Evrin Hospital.

Due to the circumstances of the war, the bombing, the interruption of communication and the difficulty of getting the pictures and videos that prove the Turkish bombardment, but the Turkish occupation Army has published this picture and proved to all that it committed this massacre against civilians in Evrin Hospital.

The large building in the picture that the Turkish army claims to be Evrin Hospital is actually a printing press.

The building that is identified by a red circle and bombarded by the Turkish Army is Evrin Hospital and the other building is the printing press.
